

DK16

When open it gives you full access to the lower platen. The frame support allows the operators to slide shirts over the table with complete drape space around and underneath the loading area. This press is perfect for environments with limited space and for users who need more portability and mobility than the over-weight swing away presses.

A few features include a fully digital temperature control ranging from 32F – 600F, automatic digital timer and dual pre-press timer, user selectable end-of-cycle alarms, cycle counter, along with a 3-year warranty on control and 1-year warranty on the entire press.
